BURGLAR ENTERS THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

Some time early yesterday morning a burglar entered the office of the Postal Telegraph on Main street, and after forcing the lock on a metal box secured $3.75 in nickels and a revolver. The intruder gained entrance through a rear door, breaking a hole in the glass large enough to admit the hand, and removing a bolt. The implement used to break the glass was an old hemp hook which was left on the outside.

Ernest Jones, a young white boy, was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Hughes, in Cynthiana, charged with the robbery. He was brought to Paris last night. The revolver was recovered.

Fire, the origin of which is unknown, completely ruined the shoe store of Wm. H. Berry, in Mt. Sterling about three o'clock, Wednesday morning. PROMINENT KENTUCKY MASON DIES AT HOME IN MAYFIELD

John W. Landrum, Past Grand Master of the Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons, died early Saturday morning at his home in Mayfield, after an illness of five weeks of Bright's disease. He is survived by his widow and two sons, Thomas J. Landrum and John Landrum.

Mr. Landrum was Grand Master of the jurisdiction of Kentucky, being installed by his father, who had preceded him in office, and enjoyed the unusual distinction of having been Grand High Priest of the jurisdiction of Kentucky and Grand High Priest from the United States at the same time.

Mr. Landrum was fifty-three years old and had spent all his life in Mayfield, helping to build the town. Ill-health compelled him to retire from active business on February 7, since which time his death had been momentarily expected. He was president of the Mayfield Water and Light Company, and was one of the best known and most prominent Masons in the United States.

Mr. Landrum was well known in Masonic circles in this city, and on the occasion of the laying of the cornerstone of the Bourbon county court house, as Grand Master of Kentucky he had charge of the exercises.

THEATRICAL.

The Columbia Today.

"Adrift in a Great City." Pat Moran, the prosperous foreman of a construction gang, sends to the old country for his wife and daughter. On his way to meet them he meets with a serious accident and is taken unconscious to a hospital. When he comes to himself he sends tracers to seek his wife and child, but cannot find them. Meanwhile the two women are penniless, and are reduced to beggary. The girl finds work, but her eyes becoming overtaxed, she goes.

"Unto the Weak." Peter was a solitary old man who lived on the outskirts of the village. The pastor of the village was given to eloquent sermons on Sundays—and Peter to deeds, more eloquent than all the sermons put together, every day in the week. When he took into his cottage Eileen and her baby, after everybody else had driven them out, the community was very indignant, and Parson Ullett remonstrated with him for thus outraging the feelings of "our good people." Peter said little, but sent the parson off on his own business. Then he cleaned his gun and waited Eileen refused to tell her benefactor the name of her betrayer, but at last the certain fact was revealed to Peter that the father of Eileen's child was none other than Henry, the son of the parson. At the point of the gun Peter marched the young man to the parsonage, and there, in the presence of the assembled townspeople, compelled the parson to marry his son to Eileen.

"The Rivals." This very amusing farce takes an unusual original turn when Pat conquers his rival for the hand of the Widow Murphy by impersonating his own ghost. (adv)

The sending of a communication with a parcel post package heretofore has not been permissible. The letter or communication however, is not to be enclosed in the package, but is to be tied or otherwise securely fastened to the outside.

CONFERENCE CALL TO KENTUCKY MINISTERS

A call to ministers of Kentucky to attend a conference on rural church problems in connection with the Southern Educational Conferences to be held in Louisville next month, was issued Tuesday by the Kentucky Committee appointed by A. G. Bland, general secretary of the movement. Signed by the twenty-one members who are prominent throughout the State, it follows:

"To the Ministers of Kentucky: In connection with the great rural life conference to be held in Louisville April 7 to 10 there will be a conference on the rural church problems. This conference will be held in the Methodist Temple, Sixth street, and Broadway, Louisville, and will be in the nature of an informal discussion of the most important problems confronting the country churches. Men who have made a special study of certain aspects of the country church will be present to give the benefit of their counsel and information. President D. H. Hill, of the North Carolina College of Agriculture, will discuss the pastor's relation to agriculture. The Rev. J. J. Cole, of Jefferson, Ky., who has been especially successful in developing a country Sunday school, will preside at the session devoted to the consideration of the Sunday school as a vital force in the community. Prof. C. S. Gardner, of the Southern Baptist Seminary, is expected to preside over the session devoted to considering the best methods of developing intellectual and moral life. The closing session will be a symposium of conclusions as formative of a practical program for making the rural church a greater factor in country life development. The railroads have granted a rate of one fare plus 25 cents. Every rural pastor who can possibly do so ought to attend this conference."
